Planning for Coming Season

NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN.

BUSY housewives have been too occupied uncovering furniture and getting the odor of moth ball and camphor out of their clothing to turn their attention to things social, but the near approach of November has caused many to pause in their house-cleaning and glance at their calendars. A number of hostesses are waiting for the announcement from the White House of the dates selected by the President and Mrs. Wilson for their official entertainments before planning their own winter campaigns.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson inaugurated the "little season" last week by commencing her informal afternoon teas, a form of entertainment of which the "First Lady in the Land" is particularly fond, and which became quite a feature of White House hospitality last spring. On Friday afternoon Mrs. Wilson received Mrs. Edward White, wife of the Chief Justice, and the wives of the associate justices of the Supreme Court, and entertained them informally at tea in the Red Room.

Will the social side of President Wilson's administration be grave or gay? It is a question which is not confined to anxious debutantes alone. The National Capital is unique in one respect from its sister cities in the United States—society plays a larger role here than anywhere else—consequently when gayety fluctuates, the society butterflies are apt to flutter by to winter resorts in the sunny South and in Europe, leaving Washington to lament their absence.

It is Washington's first winter under the new regime, and from present indications it looks as if the leaders in Congressional life will take a prominent part in social affairs this winter, and much entertaining probably will be done by the officials of the administration.

Indian summer has lured many a devotee of outdoor life away from city streets, and the roads, lanes, and bridle paths leading to the country clubs about Washington are often crowded. The Washington Riding and Hunt Club, one of the most exclusive organizations of its kind, has commenced its dog hunts and meets, and as Washington boasts some magnificent riders of both sexes, that sport is always keenly anticipated by lovers of the horse.

The Chevy Chase Club is still the most popular rendezvous for society, although the roof garden on the Army and Navy Club has been a close rival all through the torrid months. Wednesday and Saturday are the favorite days for informal entertainments at the Chevy Chase Club, and tables for dinner parties have to be engaged far in advance.

And the informal dances on these two nights are unquestionably extremely jolly affairs. In fact, Washington is still tangled in the tango to a tantalizing extent. And the "hesitation" waltzes, fishwalks, and other variations of the modern dances are "tried out" by maid and matron in the ballroom of the clubhouse.

One of the distinguished foreigners, who recently visited Washington, when asked his opinion of American dances, declared that the new steps were rapidly developing a race of contortionists.

It has been the fashion for women to wear their second best clothes to Chevy Chase; but now the future debutante and her older sister are appearing in their latest Paris "creations." It may be that these same women have looked ahead and concluded that there will be fewer dances given this winter than in past years, and so are willing to wear their best clothes to a country club dance.

There is not a very bright outlook ahead for the dancing world. Several efforts have been made to reorganize the Bachelors' Germans, but so far without success. It is even doubtful if the "Benedicts" will give their famous cotillion this winter. The absence of these dances would be a severe blow to the younger set. The hostesses who will give private balls this winter can be counted on one's fingers.

Therefore, the dancing contingent, especially the debutantes, have heard that a charity ball is to be given on Thanksgiving night with enthusiasm and delight. The ball will be given for the Noel House, under the auspices of the board of lady managers, of which Mrs. Henry Cleveland Perkins is president. Those in charge have engaged the large and small ballrooms at the New Willard, and have secured Davis' Orchestra, and all the latest dances will be played that night at libitum.

Society also looks forward to two other charity balls—that given for the benefit of the Children's Hospital and the Southern Charity Ball, both of which have become regular institutions each winter. The dates for these two dances will be announced later in the season.

The German Ambassador and the Countess von Bernstorff, who spent the summer in Germany, are passengers on the Imperator, and on landing in New York will come direct to Washington. Nearly all the representatives of foreign governments have returned to Washington and opened the embassies and legations here. The British Ambassador and Lady Cecil Spring-Rice are expected to reach the National Capital this week, and after their arrival Austria-Hungary will be the only government represented by a charge d'affaires, for the Austrian Ambassador and Mme. Dumba, who are now in their own country, will not come to Washington until later in the season.

The Minister of Sweden and Mme. Eckengren, who spent the summer in Europe, will not arrive in Washington until December. The Spanish Minister and Mme. de Riquelme and the Belgian Minister and Mme. Havenith are among the recent arrivals in Washington, and the two legations are being put in winter trim.

Miss Dorothy Gatewood, daughter of Medical Director James D. Gatewood, U. S. N., whose marriage to Lieut. Earl North, U. S. A., will be a notable event on Wednesday afternoon, is being extensively entertained by her friends. Miss Maitland Marshall gave a tea for her at the New Willard Hotel yesterday afternoon, following a theater party.

Miss Hildreth Gatewood will be maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids are to be Miss Maitland Marshall, Miss Ruth Bliss, Miss Josephine Mason, Miss Harriet Crawford, and Miss Beatrice Crawford, of Virginia.

Lieut. John Martin Wright will be the best man for Lieut. North, and the ushers will be Lieut. Stewart Godfrey, Lieut. S. C. Harrington, Lieut. Beverly C. Dunn, Lieut. H. S. Bennion, Lieut. R. C. Crawford, and Lieut. E. B. Ardery, all of the Engineer Corps.

The ceremony will be performed in St. Margaret's Episcopal Church, at 4:30 o'clock, and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, in Nineteenth Street.

The marriage of Miss Helen Huntington Downing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Downing, and Lieut. Commander Hugo W. Osterhaus, U. S. N., will take place on Thursday afternoon, December 4, at St. John's Episcopal Church. Lieut. Commander Osterhaus is the son of Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, U. S. N., and he has an enviable record in the navy. Miss Downing is one of the most popular girls in Washington society.

C., took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The bride was attended by the Bishop of Washington, the Right Rev. Alfred Hardin, in Massachusetts Avenue. Only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

The pretty bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, wore a handsome traveling suit of dark blue broadcloth, and a velvet hat trimmed with ostrich plumes. She carried a bouquet of violets and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor had a becoming suit of dark blue velvet, and a hat to match, and carried a bouquet of bridesmaid roses.

Dr. E. S. White, of Norfolk, Va., was best man.
